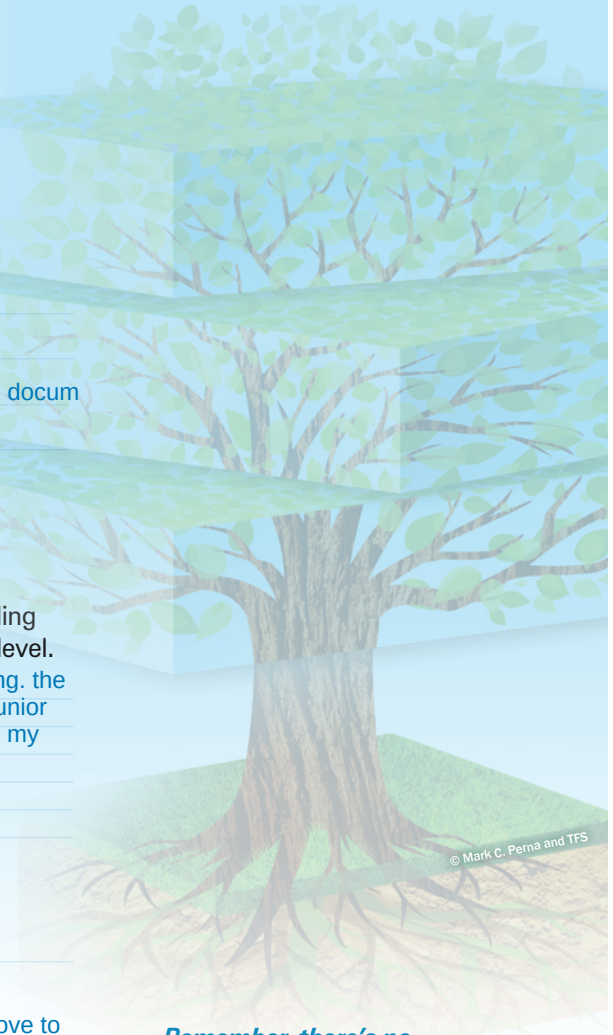
Knowledge/Training Needed: Bachelors degree in game design, computer science or software engineering

LIFESTYLE POSSIBILITIES

In this section, please describe the type of lifestyle you could afford if you climbed to this career branch.
For example, what would your work schedule look like? Would it be flexible? Could you set your own hours? Could you work your way up and advance your career? What about owning your own home? Going on vacations? Supporting a family? Attending concerts? Owning the latest tech gadgets? Use your imagination to picture what life experiences you could have at this career level.

I would have to work 60 hours a week with some weekends or overtime but I would be able to have a flexible start later in the morning. the settings will mostly be indoors in collaboritive, office-based or remote envoirments. I could work my way up the ladder starting as a junior and making my way up to a senior to get more pay and may get to be project manager. I could probably have enough pay to owning my own home I would have less vacation time options and I might be able to support a family and have a successful life.



MAKE IT PERSONAL

Can you see yourself enjoying this career and lifestyle? yes

Why or why not?

I have been playing video games since I was 3 and have been playing them since I have a passion for video games and I would to love to make them as a job. I love a whole variity of gaming genres with only one of them I really don't like even after I beat a game I sit down look into the many layers of what I liked about the game and what I didn't and the give it review based on what I reflected on.

Remember, there's no wrong branch. It's all about doing what you love!
